While lauding the Anti-Ragging Cell for taking proactive steps and measures in ensuring a ragging-free ecosystem in the college she also encouraged students to use the anti ragging helpline or to contact members of the Anti Ragging Cell in the event of any case of ragging. Ms Khonglah also pointed out that no reports of ragging were reported in Shillong College till date such programmes as this are organised not only for awareness purposes but are also aimed at facilitating character building and bring about peaceful and harmonious coexistence among students in the college.

During the break between the two sessions it was announced that students who were willing could participate in the poster programme held in the classrooms in C- Block. Since this was not a competition and it was the first day of College very few students took part.
